ESG stands for Environmental, Social, and Governance. It is a framework that investors and companies use to assess a company's performance in three key areas: environmental impact, social responsibility, and corporate governance.

Environmental factors refer to a company's impact on the planet, including its carbon footprint, use of renewable resources, waste management, and efforts to mitigate pollution.

Social factors focus on how a company treats its employees, engages with communities, and supports human rights. This includes aspects such as employee well-being, diversity and inclusion, community development, and philanthropy.

Governance involves the structure and integrity of a company's leadership and management. It examines issues such as board composition, executive compensation, transparency, and the company's overall ethical standards.

Most companies in Malaysia are still in the midst of implementing environmental, sustainable, and governance (ESG) practices. These practices would include going paperless, using mugs instead of plastic or paper cups, reducing carbon emissions by saving electricity and save water.

The main motivations identified for adopting such practices were to improve productivity, achieve cost savings and enhance brand reputation. Infoniche' ESG initiative kick off with 'Save Water' & 'Save Electricity' activities in the year 2021 and those small moves pave path to greater heights. Now we are going paperless.

Remember, it starts with us. 😊
